Notice on Concluding Memorandum with Dutch OGD ict-diensten

Information Development Co., Ltd., from here on written as “the Company,” informs you the Company entered into a business alliance memorandum with OGD ict-diensten (Head Office: Delft, the Netherlands, CEO: Daan de la Parra, Roel Nikkessen).

1. Purpose for concluding memorandum

This memorandum aims not only to cross-sell to existing customers of both parties but also to create a new business model through organic collaboration from the expertise accumulated for many years and resources of both companies. In addition, we will deepen the mutual understanding and cooperative relationship between the two companies through personnel exchanges and information sharing.

By doing so, we will strive to improve our presence in the global market, centering on the Netherlands and Japan.

2. Overview of OGD ict-diensten

OGD ict-diensten is an IT service integrator from the Netherlands. In 1988 OGD ict-diensten was founded by students from the University of Delft and since then has grown to a national outsourcing partner for cloud, infrastructure, end-user management and software development, which includes two subsidiary companies. This expansion was enabled by their good price/quality services and ‘no-nonsense can-do’ mentality.

From their 5 offices and with over a 1,000 highly educated professionals with cutting edge technologies, they provide support for their customers throughout the Netherlands. OGD ict-diensten has a wide variety of customers, from governmental to healthcare organisations, and from mid/small to large size enterprise customers.
